

Contributors

Citation: Contributors (2026) "Quaderni di Lea – Scrittori e scritture d'Oriente e d'Occidente" 9: pp. 103-104. doi: <https://doi.org/10.36253/lea-1824-484x-17260>.

Copyright: © 2026 Contributors. This is an open access, peer-reviewed article published by Firenze University Press (<https://oajournals.fupress.net/index.php/bsfm-lea>) and distributed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution License, which permits unrestricted use, distribution, and reproduction in any medium, provided the original author and source are credited.

Data Availability Statement: All relevant data are within the paper and its Supporting Information files.

Competing Interests: The Author(s) declare(s) no conflict of interest.

Lena Dal Pozzo (<lena.dalpozzo@unifi.it>) is presently on leave from her role as a Lecturer (CEL) in Finnish Language at the University of Florence and has assumed a position as a Lecturer in Finnish Language and Academic Writing at Aalto University, Finland. Her research focuses on second language development and bilingualism, as well as the acquisition processes involved in teaching and learning languages, particularly Finnish.

Henrik Gottlieb (<gottlieb@hum.ku.dk>) is an Emeritus Associate Professor of English at the University of Copenhagen, Denmark, and Chair of the Global Anglicism Database Network.

Sarah Harchaoui (<sarah.harchaoui@sorbonne-universite.fr>) is an Associate Professor of Nordic Linguistics at Sorbonne University. Her research focuses on multilingual practices in the Nordic countries, including youth language, contemporary speech styles, and receptive multilingualism.

Jannika Lassus (<jannika.lassus@helsinki.fi>) is a Senior University Lecturer and has the title of Docent at the Faculty of Humanities at the University of Helsinki. She is a member of the Matriculation Examination Board in Finland. Her research background is in modern Swedish text research, including translation studies, SFL, and social semiotics.

Anja Schüppert (<a.schueppert@rug.nl>) is an Associate Professor of Linguistics at the Center for Language and Cognition Groningen (CLCG) in the Netherlands. She specialises in multilingual communication and has published on receptive multilingualism, English as a lingua franca, and English-medium instruction.

Sofia Stolt (<sofia.stolt@hanken.fi>) is a University Lecturer in Swedish at Hanken School of Economics and Counsellor of Education at the Finnish National Agency of Education. She is a member of the Matriculation Examination Board, and her research focuses on assessments, educational management, and high-stakes exams.

Julia Tidigs (<julia.tidigs@helsinki.fi>) is a University Lecturer in Nordic literature at the University of Helsinki, specialising in literary multilingualism. She is the principal investigator of the research project “Ostrobothnian Renaissance. Critical Literary Regionalism and the Changing Dynamics of Finland-Swedish literature 1990-2025” (funded by the Society of Swedish Literature in Finland, 2026-2029).

Anna Wegener (<anna.wegener@unifi.it>) is an Associate Professor of Scandinavian Studies at the University of Florence. Her current areas of research include receptive multilingualism, translation exchanges between Italy and Scandinavia from both a historical and contemporary perspective, children’s literature, and women’s journalism.