

ABSTRACT

Luigina Mortari, To Know ourselves to Care Ourselves

The first commitment of education is teaching to care ourselves. There are lots of references to Greek culture but there're also many observations about contemporary authors – Stein, Foucault, Hadot. The theory of knowledge is central for this argumentation.

Enza Colicchi, Pedagogy between “Challenges and Utopias” and “Knowledge Society”.

When we talk about pedagogy we often think to “challenge” because it usually agrees lots of provocations from educational and social events. Not only. We talk also of “utopia” because pedagogy shows the direction of theoretical research. The author puts these arguments in critical and pedagogical reflections to offer a complex profile of contemporary subject.

Mario Manno, Remembering Bruner

The essay is dedicated to one of most eminent Italian scholar of pedagogy, Leonardo Trisciuzzi and the author reflects about the different manners to study pedagogy today. The classical authors, as Bruner, Piaget or Dewey, would be central for young students of education for their human and professional growth. We want thinking peoples – says the author – and to obtain this result it's necessary to return to classic literature.

Paolo Orefice, Community Educators of Childhood in Cuba and in Italy

This essay is the result of an international research about the formation's process of educative jobs. There is the comparison between Italian and European contest about territorial approach in educative jobs and the author shows many interesting elements of Cuban situation that we can use also inside our contest. The first attention is about the quality of education for childhood.

Maria Vittoria Isidori, Ambivalence inside Female Education. Development Lines for the Gender Teaching Method

The female word is very complex and today the asymmetry with male sphere is also evident. During Twentieth-century, thanks to social studies and critical pedagogy, we can meet a new way to think gender questions inside educative process. The author underlines the necessity to plane a gender teaching-method to found new curriculum with some difference of opinions between disciplines and educational styles.

Claudia Secci, Authors and Thought Schools in International Dimension

Author tells about the important rule of UNESCO around educational theory. It's necessary reading again the category of care in education and the essay presents many interesting studies in deep about three authors: Maritain, Freire and Morin.

Alessandro Simoncini, Well-mannereds. On Genealogy of Pedagogical Reasoning

In this essay the author shows the modernity and actuality of pedagogical speech. A deep reflection about genealogy of educative course would be necessary to understand the contemporary social problems. The communication is one of more important instruments of educational relationship today.

Franco Cambi, "Subject question" as pedagogical problem

During Twentieth-century the western subject has been placed at the centre of scientific discussion. The author shows three way of interpretation: 1) we have to go over traditional vision of western subject; 2) the return of hermeneutic thought about subject; 3) the contemporary subjects is managed by new technologies. It's necessary reflects on these questions with increasing attention.

Franco Cambi, The Self-government School and the rule of person

The self-government school must works to needs of subjects. School is not a metaphysical place but one of most important institution where thinking social emancipation. The Moratti Reform puts at the centre of attention the importance of personalization of studies and shows a new way to organized curriculum.

Franco Cambi, University today and pedagogical teaching: frames and teaching-methods problems

The author gives a deep reflection about University of "3+2" and the rule of Sciences of Formation Faculty for the building of educative and social jobs. Educative professions need of mental reflection and pedagogy with science of education can help and enrich this process.

Caterina Benelli, Young People Look for Old Traditions. A Search at City of Guatemala

The essay presents a work about a search on "Protección y Desarrollo del Niñez y Adolescencia trabajadora" in Guatemala. There is a reflection on cooperation between Italy and Guatemala about projects devote to bring up to citizenship. One of the most important focus of this reflection is dedicated to bring up to dialogue.