Appendice bio-bibliografica su autori e autrici

Pier Paolo Bellini è Professore associato di Sociologia dei processi culturali (SPS08) presso l'Università del Molise dove insegna Sociologia della comunicazione, Sociologia dei processi formativi e comunicativi e Laboratorio di gestione del suono nella produzione multimediale. I suoi interessi di ricerca sono principalmente legati alla comunicazione creativa e artistica e ai processi formativi e identitari. Su queste tematiche ha pubblicato numerosi articoli sulle riviste scientifiche nazionali e internazionali e ha partecipato a diversi seminari e convegni presso varie università straniere. Ha pubblicato diverse monografie tra le quali si segnalano: 2005, Pronipoti di Mozart. Modelli, teorie, condizioni delle professioni musicali in Italia, Firenze, Società Editrice Fiorentina; 2009, La comunicazione Artistica e i suoi attori. Sociologia della musica, dell'arte e della letteratura, Milano, Mondadori Università; 2012, La relazione come FORMA di apprendimento. Cooperative learning e teoria relazionale, Soveria Mannelli, Rubbettino; 2015, Il mio posto. Sociologia della realizzazione, Milano, Mondadori Education; 2018, Autorevolezza: la sfida della relazione educativa, Milano, FrancoAngeli.

Romano Benini is Professor of Welfare sociology. He coordinates the degree course in Sustainable Innovation Economics at the Link University of Rome and is a contract professor at the Sapienza University of Rome in the sociology of Made in Italy. He is an expert for the Pnrr and the economic and social relaunch of internal areas at the Italian Presidency of the Council and an expert and advisor for labor policies and active inclusion to the Minister of Labour. He carries out research project coordination activities for Manageritalia, Fondimpresa and for some regional institutions. He is a member of the coordination of the Impresa Sensibile national Foundation. He is the author of numerous essays and scientific publications on economic, sociological and labor issues.

Gianfranco Bettin Lattes ha insegnato Sociologia nella Facoltà di Scienze Politiche "Cesare Alfieri" di Firenze ed è Fondatore della Rivista Società*Mutamento*Politica. Rivista italiana di sociologia.

Luciano Brancaccio è Professore associato di Sociologia dei Fenomeni Politici all'Università di Napoli Federico II dove insegna Movimenti sociali e politici e Sociologia dei fenomeni mafiosi. Tra le sue pubblicazioni recenti: Politica e criminalità organizzata in Campania dopo il terremoto, in Gribaudi G., Mastroberti F., Senatore F. (a cura di), Il terremoto del 23 novembre 1980 (2021); Violent Contexts and Camorra Clans, in Massari M., Martone V. (eds.), Mafia Violence (2019); Crisi del clientelismo di partito e piccole rappresentanze territoriali. Forme e spazi del consenso personale a Napoli, in "Quaderni di Sociologia" (2018); I clan di camorra. Genesi e storia, Donzelli (2017).

Enrico Damiani di Vergada Franzetti, graduated in Law and PhD in Sociology of Law, is a contract professor of Sociology of the family, of Sociology of cultural processes at the University of Milan – "La Statale", where he is also a lecturer of the subject in Sociology of Human Rights and in Legal Sociology of Work and Social Policies. He is deputy editor of the paper and online journal Legal Sociology and Human Rights as well as deputy editor of the online journal Society and Rights.

Piero Dominici (PhD) is Associate Professor, Sociologist, Philosopher, Educator and Systems Thinker, is Scientific Director of CHAOS (2011) and UNESCO IPL Expert. Fellow of the World Academy of Art & Science and Vice President of the World Complexity Science Academy, he was selected as expert also in the SciArt JRC Group – European Commission. UN Expert and invited speaker, he is Director (Scientific Listening) at the Global Listening Center and IPSA Fellow. He teaches at the University of Perugia and he is a referee for prestigious scientific journals worldwide. As scientific researcher, for almost thirty years, his main areas of expertise encompass (hyper)complexity, complex systems, transdisciplinarity and knowledge sharing in the fields of education, higher education, systems theory, technology, intelligence and communication. Member of the MIUR Register of Revisers and Fellow of the New England Complex Systems Institute and of European Complex Systems Society, he is author of numerous essays, scientific articles and books.

Romina Gurashi, Ph.D. is Research Fellow in General Sociology (SPS/07) at Sapienza University of Rome, Managing Editor of the prestigious journal "Rivista Trimestrale di Scienza dell'Amministrazione. Studi di Teoria e Ricerca Sociale", Deputy Editor of the journal "Studime Sociale/Social Studies" of both the Albanian Institute of Sociology and Albanian Sociological Association and Board Member of the "Lab's Quarterly". In the context of the European Sociological Association she is Member of the Board of the Research Network 36 – Sociology of Transformations: East and West. Among her research topics there are the processes of mutual implication of peace and sustainable development; macro, meso and micro processes of social change; smart society and globalization; social conflict; processes of social recognition and identity through fashion and made in Italy. She s been awarded with the international Books for Peace award in 2020 and with the Award for Best Doctoral Dissertation on Cooperation to Development in 2019 by Sapienza Foundation.

Ilaria Iannuzzi (Ph.D.) is Lecturer in General Sociology and Sociology of Modern and Contemporary Processes at the Department of Political Science of the Sapienza University of Rome and Adjunct Professor at the University of International Studies of Rome (UNINT). She is the winner of the third edition of the "Vilfredo Pareto Prize for Sociology" in "Public speaking and methodological rigor" (2018), the "Minerva Prize for scientific research" (2021) and the PhD thesis prize of the Sapienza publishing house (2020). He is Assistant Editor of the "Rivista Trimestrale di Scienza dell'Amministrazione. Studi di teoria e ricerca sociale" (class A Anvur). His main focus is on capitalism and the history of sociological thought.

Laura Leonardi is a full Professor of General Sociology at the University of Florence. From 1999 to 2005 she was professor with Grant Jean Monnet, and in 2008 she was awarded a Jean Monnet Chair. She was responsible for the SharEU project (2016-2019) for the Jean Monnet Center of Excellence at the University of Florence, of which she leads the homonymous interdepartmental center. She has directed numerous international and national research projects. Her interests are mainly centered on sociological theories, conflict and social change, globalization and Europeanization, inequality and social citizenship.

Gaspare Nevola è Professore ordinario di Scienza politica presso il Dipartimento di Sociologia e Ricerca Sociale dell'Università di Trento. Fra le sue pubblicazioni più recenti si segnala Luci e ombre di una democrazia antifascista: viaggio nella repubblica, Carocci, Roma, 2022.

Giuseppe Michele Padricelli, dottore di ricerca in scienze sociali e statistiche è attualmente assegnista di ricerca presso l'Università degli studi di Napoli Federico II. I suoi interessi di ricerca riguardano le sfide e gli avanzamenti dei metodi di ricerca sociale alla luce delle evoluzioni dello scenario digitale, approcciati attraverso lo studio della comunicazione politica, dei movimenti sociali e dell'azione collettiva. Tra le sue ultime pubblicazioni: (Con Gabriella Punziano e Federico Esposito) The Digital Role in Building Public Profiles of Political Actors, in "Italian Sociological Review", 2022, 12(7S): 801-837; (Con Noemi Crescentini) The Relevance of Scientific Dissemination during the Vaccine Campaign: The Italian Virologist Communication on Social Medi, in "Athens journal of social science", 2023, 10(1): 25-44.

Sara Petroccia, PhD, teaches Sociology of Cultural and Communicative Processes, Sociology of Communications and Sport Sociology at University of Cassino and Southern Lazio. She is recruiter partner and mentor at Lehigh University, PA – USA. Her research focuses on the interactions through identity, globalization and multiculturalism with intercultural communication as a key variable.

Eugenio Pizzimenti è Professore associato di Scienza Politica presso il Dipartimento di Scienze Politiche dell'Università di Pisa. I suoi interessi di ricerca si concentrano sullo studio del mutamento organizzativo dei partiti politici e sull'analisi istituzionale delle organizzazioni politiche.

Gabriella Punziano, è Professore Associato di Sociologia generale al Dipartimento di Scienze Sociali dell'Università di Napoli Federico II dove tiene insegnamenti di stampo metodologico su metodi misti e digitali. I suoi interessi di ricerca includono: la metodologia della ricerca sociale; le prospettive miste e digitali; le politiche sociali e i regimi di welfare; l'analisi dei fenomeni di comunicazione pubblica, istituzionale e politica; l'analisi della comunicazione del rischio sulle piattaforme social e digitali; gli effetti socioeconomici sul Terzo Settore, il mutamento dei comportamenti individuali, la governance del rischio, la comunicazione della scienza e il ruolo degli esperti nell'era del Covid-19. Tra le sue ultime pubblicaizoni: (Con Ciro De Falco e Domenico Trezza) Digital Mixed Content Analysis for the Study of Digital Platform Social Data: An Illustration from the Analysis of COVID-19 Risk Perception in the Italian Twittersphere, in "Journal of Mixed Methods Research", 2023 17(2): 143–170; Digital Place Narratives and Content Analysis in Tourism Research, in "Italian Sociological Review", 2022, 12(7S): 839-864.

Massimiliano Ruzzeddu is tenured Researcher in sociology at University Niccolò Cusano in Rome. In the last years, his research interests have focused on System and Complexity Theories. Recently, together with Jiri Subrt e Alemayehu Kumsa, he published the book Explaining social processes and the monographic issue of International Review of Sociology Sustainable Development: Beyond National Welfare. Possible Models for Welfare Systems in the XXI Century.

Gianluca Senatore was a Researcher on Fixed-term Contract in General Sociology at the Department of 'Communication and Social Research' at Sapienza University of Rome where he taught collective behaviour and socio-environmental sustainability. Since the beginning of his career, he has worked on the sociological origins of the concept of Sustainability and the socio-economic impacts of the Transition to Sustainability. He was a member of the Working Group for MIUR: School, University and Research for the 2030 Agenda. He is currently a member of the Sustainability Transitions Research Network (STRN) and of the Technical Scientific Committee on Sustainability Sciences at Sapienza University of Rome.

Melissa Sessa is a PhD in Political Studies at Sapienza University of Rome, Italy, and also a Phd for Sapienza School for Advanced Studies (SSAS). Her doctoral dissertation was rated "excellent with distinction". She is currently an administrative officer at C.N.R. During her career she conduct part of her studies at Helsinki University and at London School of Economics and Political Studies. She is currently a member of the Board of the RN24 – Science and Technology Research Network of the European Sociological Association. During her academic career, she has been concerned with the relationship between technologies and society, particularly smart technologies, as evidenced by the numerous articles and books she has published including M. Sessa

(2021). The Processes and theories of smart city. Cambridge Scholars Publishing. With her dissertation, The social dimension of the smart home, she won the prestigious "Vincenzo Dona" Prize. She was among the top 400 graduates in Sapienza in 2019.

Emanuela Susca is a member of the Department of Economia Società Politica (DESP) and a researcher in General Sociology at the University of Urbino "Carlo Bo," where she lectures General Sociology and Methodology of Human Sciences. Her research interests mainly concern social theory, the history of sociological thought and the theory of socialization processes, with particular reference to the impact of digital technologies and gender issues. In addition to various articles and book chapters, she is the author of Vilfredo Pareto: tra scienza e ideologia (2006), Pierre Bourdieu: il lavoro della conoscenza (2011), Per una sociologia che comprende (2012), Logiche dell'irrazionale: la sociologia di Vilfredo Pareto (2023). She is a member of the scientific committee of the series Soggettività e Potere. Ricerche di Teoria sociale (NovaLogos Publishing House – Rome), member of the editorial board of The Lab's Quarterly (ISSN 1724-451X) and member of the board of Officina Bourdieu (University of Pisa).

Hubert Treiber is Professor em. of Administrative Sciences (Verwaltungswissenschaften) at the Leibniz University of Hannover (Germany). He is a social scientist who worked in a Faculty of Law. He has published widely on Max Weber and worked on Friedrich Nietzsche and Paul Rée. He also published in the field of public administration, the implementation of law and history of science. In 1986/87 he was Jean-Monnet-Fellow at the Europe-an University Institute (Florence), in 1991 he got a scholarship by the Beinecke Rare Manuscript Library/ Yale University Library (New Haven/Con.). April 2000: Award 184Manuel Anselmiof the national "Law and Society" academic prize, endo-wed by the Christa-Hoffmann-Riem Foundation, by the "Deutsche Vereinigung für Rechtssoziologie" (lawyers' association). This prize is awarded to promote "the use-ful application of social science research in legal connections". His books include (selection): (as editor) Per leggere Max Weber (1993); (as editor together with Karol Sauerland) Heidelberg im Schnittpunkt intellektueller Kreise (1995); (together with Gerd Grasshoff) Naturgesetz und Naturrechtsdenken im 17. Jahrhundert (2002); (together with Heinz Steinert) Die Fabrikation des zuver-laessigen Menschen. Ueber die „Wahlverwandtschaft" von Kloster- und Fabrikdisziplin (2005). Articles (selection): La genesi del concetto di ascesi in Max Weber, in: Humanitas 6 (2004): 1115-1154;

"Der „Eranos" – Das Glanzstück im Heidelberger Mythen-kranz", in: W. Schluchter, F.W. Graf (Hrsg.): Asketischer Protestantismus und der „Geist" des modernen Kapi-talismus, 2005: 75-153; Moderner Staat und moderne Bürokratie bei Max Weber, in: A. Anter, S. Breuer (Hrsg.): Max Webers Staatssoziologie, 2007: 121-155; Max Weber and Eugen Ehrlich: On the Janus-headed Construction of Weber' Ideal Type in the Sociology of Law, in: Max Weber Stu-dies 2008: 225-246; Insights into Weber's Sociology of Law, in: Knut Papendort et al. (eds.), Understanding Law in Society. Zuerich/Berlin: LIT Verlag 2011: 21-79; The dependence of the concept of law uopon cognitive interest, in: The Journal of Legal Pluralism 66 (2012): 1-47. Details of his academic career and the complete list of his pub-lications are to be found: Juristische Fakultät Hannover Emeriti/weblinks: Details, see below: Publika-tionsver-zeichnis * hier *)